Technical Information

Saturday 18 – Morning, Paraje de San Isidro, Los Barruecos

Terrain: The TempO competition will take place in the San Isidro area. This zone, within the Natural Monument, features some contour detail, and many small and large rocks and bare rock detail, in a less rugged environment. It is ideal for a TempO competition.

The path between stations runs along a forest track in good condition.

Mapa: Juan Pedro Valente; ISSPROM19 1:4000, Eq. 2,5m Map December–January 2025 (base map Richie Dengra)

Course setting: Juan Pedro Valente

WRE Temp-O, Spanish Championship: 6 stations, 450mt.

Distance from the arena to the start: 200 metros.

Distance from parking to the arena: 0m (P Class); 200m (Open, Junior).

Distance from the finish to the arena; 400m.

Old map:

Saturday 18 – Afternoon, El Corchao, Los Barruecos

Terrain: The Sprint competition will take place very close to the TempO area, using the same arena. The map is named after a necropolis consisting of around thirty tombs carved into granite rocks and outcrops. Three distinct zones can be identified:

- Woodland with large rocks and additional features;
- More open terrain with smaller details;
- Rocky hills with large bare rock areas, cliffs, and numerous rocks

The competition route runs along a flat compacted dirt track in good condition.

Map: Juan Pedro Valente; ISSPROM19 1:3000 Eq. 2,5m, Mapa December 2025 (base map Juan Francisco Sánchez)

Course setting: Juan Pedro Valente

Distance from the arena to the start: 430 metros.

Distance from parking to start: 430 metros (P-class – competitors may be transported to the start); 470m (Open, Junior)

Distance from parking to the arena: 0m (P Class); 200m (Open, Junior).

Distance from the finish to the arena: 500m.

Old map:

Sunday 19 – Morning, “Where the rock is firm, fear takes no root”, Los Barruecos N

Terrain: The PreO competition will take place inside the Natural Monument of Los Barruecos, along a compacted dirt forest track in good condition, with a small elevation change in a short section (one-way in the course). Once again, the terrain features rocks of all sizes and shapes, with vegetation details, spread across two rocky hills bordering the competition path.

Map: Juan Pedro Valente; ISSPROM19 1:3000 Eq. 2,5m, Map January–February 2025 (base map Richie Dengra)

Course setting: Juan Pedro Valente

WRE PreO: 30 puntos, distance 500 m. Time Limit 105 (Open, Junior), 120 (P Class)

Distance from the arena to the start (through TC): 350 metros

Distance from parking to the arena: 0m (P Class); 380m (Open, Junior).

Distance from the finish to the arena: 550m.

Orienteering

The philosophy of all competitions is that competitors can solve all tasks using the most classical orienteering technique: reading the map.

Secondary Trail-O techniques (alignments, bearings, etc.) may be useful in some cases to narrow down areas, but they are neither required nor exhaustively tested. In any case, they are not necessary to solve any task.

Zero Tolerance

Tolerance 4 meters: If a flag is placed less than 4 m from the correct position, the answer will not be Zero. This applies only to the competitor, not to the organization, which will always place flags in the correct location (when applicable). The only possible exception would be if a flag placed within 4 m is positioned on a different mapped point feature (to be determined).

For tasks located on area or linear features without nearby references, the tolerance will clearly be greater than 4 m.

Locations

Check the complete map of locations and embargoed areas here. Those who violate the embargo areas before the competition may be disqualified.

Weather

In Cáceres in April, the climate is typically spring-like: generally mild and pleasant, with some variability and possible rainfall.

- Average maximum: 19–20 °C
- Average minimum: 7–9 °C
- Average daily temperature: 13–15 °C

This means mild days suitable for outdoor activities and cooler nights where an extra layer may be needed.

Tourism

The province of Cáceres offers one of the most captivating combinations of history, landscape and biodiversity in southwestern Europe. Its territory preserves a remarkable balance between cultural heritage and unspoiled nature. If you have some extra time you will not regret visiting some of the wonders in this region.

The city of Cáceres, a UNESCO World Heritage Site, is renowned for its exceptionally well-preserved medieval and Renaissance old town. Walking through its cobbled streets, fortified palaces and ancient towers feels like stepping back in time. The city's stone architecture, atmospheric squares and rich cultural life make it a unique destination where history remains vividly alive.

A short distance away lies Trujillo, a monumental town crowned by a medieval castle and famous for its grand main square. Birthplace of several explorers of the Americas, Trujillo blends noble palaces, churches and panoramic views over the surrounding plains, offering a deep sense of Spain's historical legacy.

Nature reaches its most dramatic expression in Monfragüe National Park, one of Europe's finest examples of Mediterranean forest and a paradise for birdwatchers. Towering cliffs, winding rivers and vast woodlands provide refuge for emblematic species such as the Spanish imperial eagle, black vulture and griffon vulture, and the star of the park, the Black Stork. The park's raw beauty and ecological richness make it an outstanding destination for nature lovers.

Beyond these highlights, the province of Cáceres is dotted with traditional villages, ancient Roman roads, "dehesa" landscapes and clear night skies. It is a land of authenticity, silence and open spaces, inviting visitors to explore at a slow pace and discover the timeless character of Extremadura.

Applicable Regulations

The competitions described in this Bulletin will be governed by the applicable regulations and rules, including:

- IOF Trail-O Rules
- FEDO Trail-O Rules and LETO regulations

Any competitor who violates the rules or benefits from such violation will be disqualified.

By registering, competitors accept the use of images generated during the event.

Except in the case of an accident, helping or receiving help from other competitors is prohibited. All competitors have a duty to assist injured participants. In Trail-O competitions, any verbal or non-verbal communication during the event is prohibited.

Doping is prohibited. CSD and IOF anti-doping regulations apply. Controls may be carried out in or out of competition.

Any attempt to map or train in the competition area is prohibited. Gathering information beyond that provided by the organizer is forbidden before and during the competition.

After finishing, competitors must not re-enter the competition area without permission from the Controller. Retired competitors must report immediately to the finish, hand in the map and control cards, and must not influence the competition in any way.

Fair Play and Environmental Care

All participants must adhere to the principles of fair play, acting honestly, with sportsmanship and a spirit of friendship. Competitors must respect other competitors, officials, spectators, local residents and the environment, and should remain silent during the competition.

REMEMBER:

Care for and respect nature. Do not leave litter in the area. If you cannot find a bin or rubbish bag, ask the organization.

The future depends on how we treat the environment today.
